Stamp tips

- Stamps are free. Bring this sheet to a national park visitor center or park store and ask for the ink stamp. It shows the date and place of your visit.
- Look around. Some parks have more than one stamp, and some have a self-serve stamp station outside. Hours change with the seasons, so check the park's page on nps.gov before you go.
- Any paper works. People stamp passport books, journals, postcards, maps and brochures. This sheet works too.
- Two in one trip. Sequoia and Kings Canyon sit side by side and are managed together, but they count as two parks.
- The newest one. Chiricahua in Arizona became a national park in October 2026.

Park list from nps.gov, November 2026.
